Week #3 - September 26, 1998 vs. Beloit.Beloit, WI
Final Score: Beloit 33, Monmouth 7
Monmouth fell to 0-3 on the season and 0-2 in Midwest Conference action as the Fighting Scots wound up on the short end of a 33-7 score at Beloit. Turnovers again plagued the Scots, who threw an interception and lost two fumbles, one of which was returned 51 yards for the game's final score. Beloit went ahead 13-0 with two first-quarter touchdowns and appeared to be dominating the game. However, the Fighting Scots came back with a five-play, 52-yard TD drive in the second quarter which was capped off by a two-yard scoring run by sophomore Preston Eiler. As quick as the Scots gained momentum they lost it, surrendering an 85-yard return for a touchdown on the ensuing kickoff. After a scoreless third quarter Beloit found the end zone again on a 15-yard TD run by Brian Balich to make it 26-7. The fumble return touchdown came with four minutes remaining and iced the game for the Buccaneers.
ScotStats: Eiler rushed for a team-high 84 yards on 16 carries and scored his third rushing TD of the season

As a freshman, Ryan Eiler was not a heavily recruited defensive lineman, but through a tremendous work ethic in the weight room and on the practice field has become a valuable part of the line. Last year he was rotated in at defensive tackle. This season, as a fifth-year senior, Eiler has the opportunity to start. Coaches are excited for Eiler because he has paid his dues and has earned his spot with the Falcons. Last season, Eiler made six solo and seven assisted tackles.

Eiler began his career in the newspaper business at the age of 12, working in the printing department an hour before and after school every day. During his 58 years in the business, Eiler worked many jobs, including as a reporter, editor, printer, linotype operator and mechanic. Mary Ann Eiler is Document Specialist with the American Medical Association in Chicago

Keith E. Eiler, a research fellow at the Hoover Institution, is a retired lieutenant colonel of the United States Army and a practicing historian.

His academic work has centered on military history. He recently authored a major treatise on U.S. economic and military mobilization in World War II titled Mobilizing America: Robert P. Patterson and the War Effort, 1940-1945, a book that received the Hoover Institution's Uncommon Book Award for 1999. Shifting the focus of his research from the home front to military operational aspects of the war, he currently is preparing a study of the U.S. War Department's most prominent strategist, General Albert C. Wedemeyer, an officer who later commanded U.S. forces in the China theater and whom Eiler once served as aide-de-camp.

Eiler graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1944. He subsequently served during World War II with the Third U.S. Army in Europe, where he was wounded in the Battle of the Bulge, and during the Korean War with the Eighth U.S. Army in Korea.

He holds masters' degrees in civil engineering (Harvard University) and international affairs (George Washington

Biographical sketch/Administrative History 624
John Coatsworth Iler was born in Colchester Township, Ontario in 1828. Initially a farmer, Iler continued to hold Colchester property throughout his life. A deeply religious man, Iler was also a Methodist preacher and was much in demand as a speaker for meetings in Essex and Kent Counties as well as Detroit, Michigan. In 1850 Iler married Adeline Buchanan, daughter of John Buchanan. Iler served in several municipal offices, including a period as Colchester Township Clerk, Colchester Reeve for 1872-1879 and County Warden in 1879. He ran unsuccessfully in federal politics during the mid-1870s. Returning to office as Reeve of Colchester South in 1883, John Iler became Sheriff for the County of Essex that year and continued until his death in 1908. The Ilers had three daughters: Margaret, married Eli Wright; Josephine, married Atkinson Wigle; and Myra, married Albert Rumball

Beware:Toxic Mold
Bruce Iler holds a cutout of the exterior wall of his home showing mold growth (Pic)

Sunday, Jun. 24, 2001
Sharyn Iler, 52, of the Woodlands, Texas, an upscale suburb of Houston, couldn't figure out what was wrong. Every time she went into her bathroom to put on makeup, her eyes started burning. She felt constantly exhausted, her vision was blurry and she had a dry cough that just wouldn't quit. Diagnosed with breast cancer in 1998, Iler feared the worst. Perhaps after two years of remission, the disease had returned. She never imagined that the source of her troubles might lie buried within the walls of her $300,000 home--or that she and her husband Bruce would be forced to flee for health reasons with nothing but their dog and cat in tow.

Yet that is exactly what happened one ill-fated afternoon last February. Inspectors had found a thick black mold growing between the stucco and the drywall of the master bedroom, bath, study and dining room. After some of it was identified as stachybotrys atra--a fungus that has been linked to everything from sinus infections to brain damage--an industrial hygienist warned the Ilers to evacuate. Thirty minutes later, they abandoned their home forever. "I thought, This can't be happening to me," says Sharyn. "This is my sanctuary. This is where I come when everything else is wrong."

Mr. Iler has handled many public offerings of equity and debt securities as well as private company financings (including numerous preferred stock transactions with venture capital investors). He represented WJ Communications, Inc., in its initial public offering in 2001, following the leveraged recapitalization of that company by Fox Paine & Company LLC in January 2000, in which he represented Fox Paine, a large private equity fund sponsor. He is currently representing a British Columbia company in its proposed initial public offering (to be dual listed in the U.S. and Canada). He has been involved in numerous public and private company mergers and acquisitions, including the leveraged acquisition of Aaron Brothers Art Marts in 1987; the $100 million cash sale of a major Los Angeles-based alarm company to an English public company in a 1989 bulk asset transfer; the sale of A&M Records to PolyGram in 1989-1990 in a bulk asset transfer; the sale of the controlling stake in Spelling Entertainment Inc. in 1991; the purchases by affiliates of Leonard Green & Partners of Thrifty Corporation and Big 5 Sporting Goods in late 1992 and the Electron Devices Business of Varian Associates in 1995; the acquisition of Alliance Imaging, Inc., by Apollo Management in a $250 million leveraged recapitalization in 1997; the acquisition of Babycenter.com by eToys.com in 1999 (stock transaction valued at approximately $1 billion); and the acquisition of Oshman's Sporting Goods by Gart Sports Company in 2001 (merger of two public companies; transaction value approximately $100 million plus new $300 million credit facility). Mr. Iler regularly represents both buyers and sellers in "leveraged recapitalization" transactions; among other representations, he represents GFI Energy Ventures LLC and its co-managed fund, OCM/GFI Power Opportunities Fund, L.P., a $450 million private equity fund specializing in the acquisition of and investments in companies that service the electric utility industry. Mr. Iler has represented GFI and the Power Opportunities Fund on approximately 15 transactions during the past five years. Mr. Iler has considerable experience in troubled company restructurings; among other representations, he represented Barry's Jewelers, Inc., over a two-year period culminating in 1992 with the successful restructuring of the company's $100 million bank line and $50 million subordinated debt issue, and he represented Alliance Imaging, Inc., over a one-year period culminating in 1994 with the restructuring of $62 million of senior and senior subordinated financing. Most recently, Mr. Iler represented Giftware Holdings, Inc., a giftware products company sponsored by Saunders, Karp & Megrue, a New York investment house, in the restructuring of that company's $100 million commercial lending facility.

told about the death of Elizabeth, another of the large family.
Jacob Iler died in 1913, and at that time the only living members of the Iler family were: Isaac, Tiffin; Rebecca Powell, North of Bascom; Catherine Luman, Tiffin; and Elizabeth, Iler.
Elizabeth, born May 10, 1824, died in 1917 at age 83. Burial was in Lutheran Cemetery on County Road 592.

FRED ILER CALLS WRITES FROM MAINE

In the July 25 Potluck, I mentioned that Fed Iler had telephoned from Westbrook, Maine, to express his interest in the Iler series. He had promised to send a resume of the Iler family, but it arrived too late for last week's article.
Iler's contribution arrived in time for this week's column, along with a photo of John Iler Sr., the patriarch of that family to first settle in the Iler area. Fred Iler writes:
"My great-great-grandfather, John Iler, migrated to Seneca County, Jackson Township, by way of Licking and Richland counties, from Cumberland County, Maryland. He was married in Licking County to Magdeline Switzer. They settled in what is now Iler".

"Jacob Iler was the oldest of 15 children. He received the family homestead from his father and then sold a portion to the Nickel Plate Railroad, which resulted in the village being named Iler Station".

"His sister, Elizabeth, was the great-grandmother of (Fostorian) Mrs. Dorothy Koons".

"David Iler, a brother to Jacob, was my great-grandfather. He married Eva Huffman, daughter of Henry Huffman".

"There were three brothers who served in the Civil War: Isaac, Cyrus and Jackson. Jackson was killed at the Battle of Kensaw, Mt. GA. Cyrus died as a prisoner of war in Andersonville Prison in Georgia. Isaac was the only one to return home safely."

"It was nice to talk to you the other night. Hope to see you in September".

Fred Iler's letter also included a substantial amount of information in regard to an error pertaining to ownership of land in the Iler area by the Iler family, due to amixup in spelling the Iler name as Oiler in government records.

Iler also provided a complete list of family names for all of the 15 children plus birth and death dates.

There is not space for the foregoing, but if living descendents reading this column desire it please write to Potluck.

OTHER REPLYS ABOUT ILER

From Helen (Omwake) Rouser, came this note:

"I have learned that there is another former Iler school teacher living, in addition to Edna (Longacre) Gilhuly. She is Doris (Trumbo) Gray, residing in Toledo".

"Also in the Omwake family there were six children instead of five, which you indicated. Leon, the youngest was a graduate of Ohio State University. He died at 34 years of age".

Mrs. Rouser also informed me that her father's brick and tile factory also manufactured large quantities of drainage tile, of which there was a great demand, to drain the low, wet land in that area.

Rouser also pointed out that in one of the articles, Mable Zuelzke's sister, Rose was listed as "Ross"...obviously a typographical error. Rose and Mable were Burgbachers before marriage.

WYANT CALLED FROM CALIFORNIA

Willis Wyant, a well-known Fostorian who moved to California earlier this year, telephoned after receiving copies of part of the Iler series, sent by his sister, Gladys Masamer, Eagleville Road.

Raised out in that area of Seneca County, Willis was interested in reading the Iler articles and to see the old pictures.

Before Wyant left Fostoria, he turned over to me a file of data about the village of Kansas, and he wondered when that series would be published.

He said he misses his Fostoria friends, is making new ones out there, and has become active in the Orange County Genealogical Society, also the Southern Chapter of the Ohio Genealogical Society.

The Wyant's address is 14400 Newport Ave., Tustin, California 92680.

CORRECTION FOR ILER ARTICLE

In a recent Potluck article it was reported that Mr. and Mrs. Jess Keller had purchased the Pelton Quarry property some years ago and developed it into the residential area.

The next day I had a telephone call informing me that I was in error...that Art Gamertsdelder owned and developed it.

Dale Eiler, also a newly elected planning group member who voted in favor of revisiting the moratorium issue, said he wanted to discuss the moratorium because he feels it's not right for Ramona. A moratorium could have a negative effect on local businesses such as builders, electricians and plumbers, Eiler said.

"There is no easy solution," Eiler said. "But, a building moratorium can be an economic disaster for Ramona. Unemploying Ramona's own is not a solution."

"If you worked in Ramona ... and you could not work in Ramona, you would have to work down the hill," Eiler added. "What does that mean? More traffic."

Cecil Eiler - Home from the North Woods

By Suzanne Eiler Miller

Note: Two years out of high school in 1924 Cecil Eiler (1902 - 1991) started a small battery business in North Manchester. The same year he purchased a lot at 110 W Main and built Eiler's Service Station, a business he operated successfully until WW II. He joined the local Fire Department also in 1924 and would later retire as Chief of the Township Department.

"Tell me a story." When Dad ("Cec" Eiler) arrived home from one of his trips to the North Woods, the first thing I wanted him to do was to tell me a story about one of his adventures.

I loved the way Dad looked when he came home from one of his hunts. No movie hero showing at the Ritz or Marshall could match his dark good looks or could any script have more drama than his stories of the great north woods in the early 30's. "He's home!" would ring through the Red Brick (201 West 3rd -now being restored by Allen D. White) as he would drive up, the deer strapped to the side of the Hudson. He would almost run into the house, throw down his stuffed duffle bags, set his rifle in the corner of the kitchen just back of the front kitchen door. There was an aura of pine woods, adventure, wild scent about Dad that would thrill any young child's heart. And his appearance! He had a disarming grin that suggested he knew more than he was telling that only whetted my appetite to know more. He would riffle hisblack hair back from his forehead and run his hand over his growth of prickly black beard. He still wore layers of wool trousers he tucked in his high-topped boots. The shirt of his long underwear I could see at the open neck of his shirt and at the ends of his turned-up sleeves.

"Tell me a story." I begged Dad from the moment he would come home. Between the living room and the dining room in the Red Brick was the 'register', a wide seat with grating that brought the warm air directly up from the furnace below. This is where I would sit while Dad would tell me of his adventures. How the moose charged and he barely escaped before he shot it with his 30-06. Or when they found Old Nels dead in his cabin deep in the woods. Or when Chum, the Indian guide, gave him pelts and porcupine quills to bring home to Susie as gifts. He transported me to a far-away world that held me spell-bound and still does.

News would spread that 'Cec was home", and soon friends would begin toarrive. We would gather around the big table in the kitchen and Dad would tell his tales to everyone. Mother (Mae) would perk coffee and begin frying the sourdough buckwheat cakes everyone relished. Friends, take a deep breath. Just imagine the aroma: coffee/sourdough/buckwheats, old hunting boots/newly tanned pelts/fresh air as the door is opened and closed. Neighbors came to look at the deer, count the points on the rack and Dad would tell the details of the shoot until it was all told.

Next day Dad would take the deer to Fred Flook on West Main to butcher andpackage. I would go with him as he delivered these packages to his friends. He always shared his game. One year he entertained all the business men at the Young Hotel. Mabel Dunbar prepared the venison dinner and served her famous angel food cake for dessert. Another year he had the firemen. Mother had a smorgasbord, a popular way of entertaining at that time. And Harry Leffel kept good humored accounts of many of the antedotes in the NEWSJOURNAL.

I wish you could all remember with me those venison dinners Mae Eiler served at the Red Brick flavored with stories of the North Woods.

San Diego Magazine's

Annual Kitchen Awards

By Virginia Butterfield

A beautiful home deserves a beautiful kitchen, and it's our pleasure to search out the best in San Diego each year. Our contest is divided into two categories: best kitchen designed by a professional, and the best designed by a homeowner.

Best Kitchen Designed by a Professional, First Place

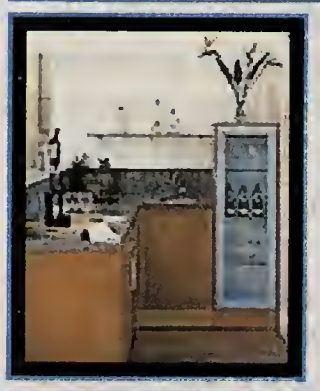
click on images to see larger versions



This new, 4,200-square-foot home in Del Mar is nearing completion, but the owners hurried to finish the kitchen in time to enter it in the San Diego Magazine contest. It's a German-style, Bulthaup-brand kitchen, and Anita Eiler is the local designer. The architecture of the home shows the influence of Frank Lloyd Wright—clean, simple and functional—with an emphasis on the use of wood and stone.

Jaclyn Eiler, 24, a publicist at C&B Scene in Southfield, says she spent the day glued to the television and worrying about her father.

"My mom called and said Dad was in New York," says Eiler of Rochester Hills. Indeed, Charles Eiler, a purchasing agent for GMAC, was at a meeting in Penn Plaza Tuesday morning. 57967

"He was able to get a call through and told Mom he actually witnessed the second plane hitting the World Trade Center," says Eiler. Eiler's father is stuck there for now but is trying to get to New Jersey to get a car to get back home

Bill and Corina Eiler of Fort Jones, California are the proud parents of 3 girls, Katie, Jessica and Danielle. Bill and his brother own and operate a 1,230-acre 3rd generation family farm. 830 acres of the farm produces alfalfa hay and grain hay for domestic and international markets, while the remaining 400 acres is timber and range land. After completing his Bachelors of Science degree in Agriculture Business from California State University, Chico in 1993, Bill and Corina moved back to the farm and began their family. In 1994, Bill and his brother developed 20% of the range land to productive irrigated alfalfa ground. He and his brother also restructured over 80% of the irrigation system from wheel lines to automated center pivots. These investments have increased the gross revenue by nearly 30% and decreased expenses as well.

Bill has been active in the Siskiyou County Farm Bureau as a board of director since 1995 and served on the California State Farm Bureau board of directors in 1999. Bill was the California State YF&R chairman in 1999 and has won the Outstanding YF&R Achievement Award. Bill and Corina are very active in their church. Corina is the Awana's Girls Game Coordinator and is a Camp Counselor for Royal Family Kids Camp, which is for abused or neglected children. Corina has been serving as the Treasure for the Siskiyou County YF&R since 2001.

History of Delaware County - Center Township
(Excerpts from pages 105, and 107 through 120)

The city of Muncie, Center Township, is the Delaware County seat of government, and geographically, is centered in section 33. Center Township is bounded north by Hamilton, east by Liberty, south by Monroe and west by Mt. Pleasant and a portion of Harrison Township.

Sections 31 to 36, inclusive in Center township is the north tier of sections and are in congressional township 21.

Beginning with 31, the first entry of public land in this section was made by John H. Collins on May 11, 1835 in the east half of the southeast quarter, (80 acres) now owned by James McClellan. After the Collins entry, Bowen Rees entered two 80 acre tracts in the section the following November after which time (in 1836) John Miller entered the north (fractional) half and Daniel Jarrett the (fractional) west half of the southwest quarter. We find the present owners of 31 to be W. Ginn, Jane Taylor, M. McGraw, James McClellan, Joseph Huffman, J. E. Smith and A. Justice. The section has about two and a half miles of public highway, half-mile of which is the Bethel pike which crosses the southwest corner.

John Isaac Jetmore was the first to procure a title to public land in section 32, which was the south half of the southwest quarter (80 acres). This entry was made on November 15, 1834, and is now owned with other lands by C. M. Preston. The remainder of section 32 was entered by William P. Williams, Charles Francis Willard and John A. Gilbert in 1834 and by Charles Francis Willard, Daniel Jarrett. John Whiteside and George Leiber in 1836. The present owners in section 32 are E. H. Jones, S. E. Seitz, Wm. Tell Seitz, E. M. Everett, G. Eiler, P. Eiler, G. Eber, C. M. Preston, J. Eiler, M. A. Willis and Joseph Heaton. The section has some two miles of public road, a part of which is the Muncie and Wheeling free pike, which crosses the northeast corner of the section

Alexander's Moving & Storage, a Baltimore-based agent for Atlas Van Lines, recently announced the winners of its annual claims competition--contractors Mark Butterworth and Mike Eiler. Butterworth is a four-time winner of the award and currently serves on the company's driver's advisory board. Eiler has been in the industry for more than 20 years, 14 of which has been with Alexander's Portland, Ore., office. The company also recognized 43 drivers who had claims at or below the company goal of $50 per 10,000 pounds hauled.

The company honored 63 drivers for their customer-service excellence in 2000. A perfect rating of 5.0 is given to a driver by a transferee based on flawless performance. To be eligible for the award, drivers must be qualified as an Atlas driver for one year and have hauled at least 200,000 pounds. Keith Loterbauer received the award for the sixth time and Jim Rasdeuschek earned his fifth award. Four-year winners are Tim Dalton and Pat Turner. Three-year winners are Frank Kawalski, Bob Short, George Berry and Eiler

Beverly J. Eiler was recently appointed program manager of the Business and International Education Program (BIE) in the College of Business Administration. She holds a degree in commerce-management from the university's College of Business Administration and is currently pursuing her master's degree in foundations and teaching. A former university "employee of the month," Mrs. Eiler served from December 1990 to September 2000 as an operations technician in the university's admissions office. Prior to this, she held several retail management positions in Niagara Falls.

As program manager, Mrs. Eiler oversees the BIE program, which is funded by a $162,950 grant which the university received this year from the U.S. Department of Education's Business and International Education Program. Niagara University is one of 28 schools nationwide which have received this prestigious two-year grant. The focus of the university's BIE program will be to promote the global competitiveness of the Western New York business community and to internationalize the NU business faculty, students and curriculum.

In partnership with the Niagara International Trade Council, the College of Business will develop and provide programs to WNY businesses interested in exporting. It will also provide intensive international business training to students through internship opportunities made available throughout western Europe.

Professor Emeritus

John J. Eiler, Professor of Pharmacy, Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and Biochemistry, and an Associate Dean of the School of Pharmacy, University of California, San Francisco died on October 21, 1992. Dr. Eiler was a member of the School of Pharmacy faculty from 1938 to 1973. He continued to teach part time for four years after his retirement.

John became a licensed pharmacist in 1931 via the apprentice route. He received an A.B. (1933) and a Ph.D. (1937) in biochemistry from the University of California at Berkeley. He served briefly on the research staff at Cutter Laboratories in Berkeley, California, before joining the faculty at San Francisco. He rose through the ranks to become Professor of Pharmacy and Biochemistry in 1951. He also held the title of Professor of Biochemistry in both the medical and dental schools, and became Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry in 1958 when he was appointed the first chairman of that department. John taught biochemistry to generations of professional students in pharmacy, dentistry and medicine, and to graduate students in pharmaceutical chemistry and biochemistry. He taught a course on the biochemical basis of disease in the fifties long before such courses became de rigueur.

It was John Eiler who, with then Dean Troy Daniels, led the way to introduction of the Pharm.D. program into the University of California. This paved the way for the department of the Clinical Pharmacy programs for which UCSF is so highly regarded.

A tragic accident while bicycling ended John's leadership roles in the University. He continued to teach biochemistry for several years in a part-time capacity. In retirement he continued to enjoy music with his wife Esther and taught himself guitar.

Dr. Eiler is survived by his wife, Esther, his son John Jr. and two grandchildren, Melissa and Jasper.

Bill Eiler, Field Crop Grower

Bill Eiler grows hay and small grains along the Scott River in Siskiyou County on a farm that his grandfather bought in the 1960s. His farm is home to deer, ducks, doves, quail, coyote, steelhead and salmon. The Eilers have taken measures to restore and provide habitat for other species of wildlife as well. Eiler has been involved mainly in bank stabilization projects along the river, including riprap and tree planting projects to slow erosion and provide more habitat for the fish, who like the deeper, cooler pools created by the rocks used in the riprapping. They are currently involved in stabilizing a creek channel by raising the bottom and planting trees along the banks to prevent sediment erosion into Scott River. The Eilers also maintain a buffer zone between the river and the land that they farm to help stem erosion. In addition to these projects, the Eilers have built a pond to help correct drainage problems and capture wastewater on their land. Now there is a year-round source of drinking water for wildlife in an area that used to be completely dry by April.

Eiler supports the idea of increasing flows down the Scott River through the use of several check dams. These are similar to beaver dams, which may help hold back enough water through the wetter months to release during the drier months in an effort to keep the Scott River from drying up in the summer, as it often does.

Despite his willingness to participate in conservation projects, Eiler is getting more discouraged from excessive regulation. "The government has everyone shell-shocked as to what you can and can't do. Many people are afraid to do things we know are positive for the wildlife." Excessive paperwork is a deterrent for projects, as well. He feels regulations cause a situation where "you can't do common sense things."

"We're hoping agencies don't want to kill proactive communities," but he doesn't know if there will be a future for agriculture in his area, as some have indicated Scott Valley may be the next "Klamath." Eiler sees that "people here work to solve the problems...we know how to fix it better than the bureaucrats in Washington D.C., just help us with some true biologists and some good scientific research." He knows farmers are genuinely concerned about wildlife.

"We're always working with other agencies and trying to do good things" for wildlife, says Eiler. Many of the projects they do are cost-share efforts with the Resource Conservation District (RCD) and other agencies. Eiler is very positive about his relationship with the RCD, and describes it as being "like a middleman to us," between the government and his farm. "They keep it on a working level with us, kind of like a contractor."

The Klamath Basin issue frustrates Eiler. He sees evidence that the action taken by the Bureau of Reclamation to save the three endangered fish species will "do the fish more harm than good. Because releasing so much water all of a sudden may "trick the fish into thinking it's a wet year and a good time to spawn." This situation has "emotionally disrupted my way of life." "Up until April of this past spring when Klamath Falls farmers were denied water, I was confident that my future and possibly my daughters' would continue in farming, but now I think otherwise. I'm seriously thinking 'should we sell,' before they take our water away and the land's not worth anything?"

Eiler wanted to conserve the land so he could leave it to his child

Doug,

I am also researching Euler/Eiler. My search starts with a Jacob Euler/Eiler born 3/19/1826 in Germany and died 3/30/1922 in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI. He married Mary Messner between 1851 - 1861 possibly in NY. She was born 3/6/1833 in Wales, England and died 1/17/1905 in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI.

They have eight known children: Jacob (Jack) Jr. b. 1862, Charles T. (Karl) b. 1865, Henry b. 1867, John F. b. 1869, Edward G. b. 1874, William R. b. 1876, Annie b. ?, Julia b. ?. All the children were born in Buffalo, NY.

The family was in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI by 12/1891 when Henry married Minnie Krueger.

My ancestor is Charles T. (Karl) Euler/Eiler born 5/22/1865 in Buffalo, Erie Co, NY and died 10/3/1926 in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI. He married Martha Lewis on 5/31/1892 in Winnebago Co, WI. She was born 4/15/1864 in Wales, England and died 4/30/1939 in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI. They had only one son named Arthur David Euler/Eiler born 11/8/1900 in Oshkosh, Winnebago Co, WI.

Do any of these names appear in your book? I would be so happy to find another generation beyond Jacob Euler/Eiler Sr. I do know he had at least one brother named John Euler/Eiler born 3/29/1821 in Sulworden, Oldenburg, Germany and died 7/29/1899 in Winnebago Co, WI. John married a Conradine Tiennker.

Thank you for any info or help you can give me!

Need obit for Raymond August Eiler(s) who died October 29, 1993 in Naples, Collier Co, Florida.

He was born Jan 27, 1911 in Winnebago Co, WI. Family story has it that he left WI because he was a pro-golfer? We think he married but no one knows for sure or if he had children.

Thanks in advance

Hi Barbara!
I keep looking at our names and dates that we are looking for. There are so many things that are alike but not alike. Are we missing something or did someone change something.
I have copyies of Delany Iler and William 58097
Baker's marriage and a copy of their Daughter Lulu May Baker bith record. A copy of Lulu May's marriage record to Samuel Huff. 58094
These all give me the spelling of Delany Iler name and William Baker.
William Baker and Delany Iler were married in Sandusky,Ohio in April,1888. My Delany died in Mar.of 1902. I can not locate Delany's death records.Or any thing on William Baker.
What kind of puzzle do we have here?
Here is my e-mail address - - smymtsldy@aol.com.
I know we have talked before - - maybe some one will read this and help us out.
Are these two different people - or are they really the same!?
Thanks,
Debbie

Dad:

Yes, the good news is that there is no real news, only to say that Gail has had a couple of good days of rest and is at work today for a short day as we are going to a wedding this afternoon (Saturday). She also has a short 4 hour day tomorrow so she easing back into to the normal flow. Thanks to all who have shared their concern about her recovery.

My life is pretty exciting... for example I just changed the furnace filter today! Molly and Squeak are fine also and sleeping/napping/resting/idling per usual. Lots of walks and car rides for Molly and Squeaker and Molly spent a good part of the day yesterday outside with Gail on the patio.

We will look forward to seeing you next friday. Give us a call Thursday night or friday morning to let us know your arrival plans... we normally get home from work at about 6:30 p.m.

All our best to the Rose family.

Love,

ANN ARBOR, MI Joanne Iler is a woman of her word. Iler, the coordinator of Financial Aid, ran and finished her first marathon April 25. She completed the 26.2 mile-Glass City Marathon Race in Toledo, Ohio. And all of the money she raised through pledges ‹ about $1,600 ‹ will go toward the purchase of equipment and supplies for the Children's Center.

"My goal was to finish, and to raise money for the Children's Center, and I did that," Iler said. "I'm really happy with that."

OMAHA

Brewer leapt from the vehicle and began to run down the street, screaming. Jackson began to pursue her, firing several shots at her. After being struck by a bullet, Brewer fell to the ground, still screaming for help. Jackson came over to Brewer while she still lay on the ground and shot her again. Brewer fell silent after the shot grazed her face. Jackson shot her one more time in the shoulder before leaving the scene. Brewer played dead for a while longer before going to one of the homes along the street to call police. When the police interviewed Brewer, she identified the shooter as someone whose last name she did not know, but whose first name was Mike, and who was wearing blue jeans, a dark stocking cap, and a tan jacket. Brewer told the officers that Jackson lived in a blue, two-story house with a white trim fence, which house was located on the north side of Saratoga Street, one block west of Fontenelle Boulevard and the second house from the end of the block.

Ella R. Iler, in front of whose home the shooting took place, heard what she thought was a truck backfiring, looked out her kitchen window, and saw a male standing over a person lying in the street, shooting that person. She said she heard three shots. Iler said the shooter had on a dark knit hat, a light tan or beige coat, and dark trousers.

Officer Bruce M. Ferrell, after interviewing Brewer at University Hospital, drove to the area of 43d and Saratoga and identified the house from Brewer's description.

Demeteria Gardner testified that she had been dating Jackson at the time of the shooting and that Jackson had lived at his mother's house at 4344 Saratoga Street in Omaha. She further testified that she owned a green Plymouth Sundance, which Jackson was free to use. Gardner testified that Jackson borrowed the car on the night in question. She stated that he later returned and stayed for approximately 1 1/2 hours before leaving. The police arrived a few hours later and asked Gardner's permission to search the Sundance. She consented and signed a form indicating such.

Once the house was located, Officer William Dussetschleger of the Omaha Police Division was assigned to maintain surveillance on the house at 4344 Saratoga Street until a warrant could be secured. Once the officers arrived with the warrant, Dussetschleger was instructed to search the Sundance that was parked in a driveway behind the house. Dussetschleger was instructed to particularly look for weapons and clothing, especially a tan jacket, tan shirt, and blue jeans. Upon opening the hatch area of the car, he found a black gym bag, inside of which were a tan coat, a pair of jeans, and tan workboots. Dussetschleger then got two other officers to assist in the search of the car. When the coat was checked more closely, red smudges were found on it.

Ferrell testified that he and other officers from the Omaha Police Division arrived at 4344 Saratoga Street, were admitted into the house by a woman, and then encountered Jackson. Jackson was taken for questioning to central police headquarters while a search warrant was obtained. Ferrell stated that a number of items were seized with the warrant, including a blue stocking cap, some rounds of ammunition for a handgun, and a green handgun pouch. Ferrell also took several of the items seized to the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) for forensic testing.

Dr. Blaine Roffman, the forensic pathologist who conducted the autopsy on Thornton, testified that Thornton died of two gunshot wounds to the neck, one of which exited the face, causing multiple fractures. One of the bullets severed the brain stem, which resulted in Thornton's quick death.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

South San Francisco occupies the basin and portions of the sides of a broad valley formed by the San Bruno Mountains on the north and the Coast Range on the west. Most of the valley faces adjacent San Francisco Bay affording sweeping vistas, from higher levels and a definite sense of identification with the Bay. South San Fran has mild winters and dry cool summers. The hills to the west shield the city from much of the fog that prevails in neighboring areas.

The town of South San Francisco emerged from a portion of the old Rancho Buri Buri, which was provisionally by the Mexican Government to Jose Antonio Sanchez in 1827. Charles Lux bought 1,464 acres of Buri Buri lan became a partner of Henry Miller, thus forming the firm of Miller and Lux, Pacific Coast land barons and cattle k was on this property that Charles Lux built his family a beautiful country home. Through his heirs, the Lux Ranc sold to Peter Iler and became the site of the thriving industrial city.

The site for South San Francisco was selected by G.F. Swift and purchased by Peter Iler of Omaha in 1890 for establishment of stock- yards and a market place for cattle produced in the area similar to the stockyards in So Omaha. Needing money, they became allied with some Chicago capitalists and formed two joint stock corpora one named South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company, while the other corporate body was knowr Western Meat Company. From this beginning grew South San Francisco, "The Industrial City". The name for S San Francisco followed the pattern planned by G.F. Swift, whose company had taken over the Western Meat Company, as his other plants were "South Chicago" and "South Omaha".

Other industries followed during the years and the two world wars brought, temporarily, to the waterfront, a considerable shipbuilding industry. Since World War II, South San Francisco has become a well-balanced com of industrial and residential areas. Approximately 2,250 acres of land are now devoted to manufacturing, whole transportation facilities and utilities.

Population has tripled since the World War II with the opening of such subdivisions as Buri Buri, Winston Manc Westborough on the slopes west of El Camino. It has grown from 4,411 in 1920 to 60,552 in 2000.

South San Francisco offers its citizens a city in which to live comfortably in fine residential areas; a place of rec in parks, swimming pools, and marina; a place to work in more than 3,200 firms and businesses.

Overview

Started in 1986, Gateway to Higher Education is an intermediary organization that now supports a comprehensive four-year, secondary school program in 11 New York City high schools. The organization is administered through the City University of New York and it prepares students for higher education and for careers in science, medicine and technology. Gateway includes summer enrichment programs, Saturday Academies, tutoring, counseling, internships, college visits, cultural awareness activities, advanced laboratory work, SAT preparatory classes and required Advanced Placement courses.

POPULATION

Gateway is aimed at students who are under-represented in mathematics, science and medical careers. To enter Gateway, students must score at least at the 50th percentile on New York City's Seventh Grade Math test and the Degrees of Reading Power test, have regular attendance, and generally have grades of 80 or better (on a 100-point scale). Since 1986, Gateway has served more than 3500 students. In the 1999-00 school year, the program served 801 students. In that year, 67% of the students were African American, 31% Latino, 1% Asian and 1% other. Nearly two thirds (62%) of the participating students were female. Through an analysis of students' zip codes and census data, the author of the 1997 evaluation determined that Gateway students come primarily from low-income or lower-middle income families. The racial/ethnic demographics of the program at the time of the 1997 study were as follows: 57% African American, 26% Latino, 12% Asian, 5% Native American, Caucasian and other.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Central District of Illinois.
No. 96 CR 20026--Harold A. Baker, Judge.

ARGUED SEPTEMBER 11, 1997--DECIDED NOVEMBER 18, 1997

Before FLAUM, RIPPLE and ROVNER, Circuit Judges.

RIPPLE, Circuit Judge. On May 9, 1996, Robert A. Saunders was indicted on three counts of mail fraud. He eventually pleaded guilty to two counts; the third was dismissed by agreement of the parties. Mr. Saunders now appeals the district court's determination of his sentence. He claims that the district court erred in adding an enhancement of five levels based on the amount of the loss. For the reasons set forth in this opinion, we affirm the judgment of the district court.

BACKGROUND

Mr. Saunders began his career in the investment and insurance businesses as an insurance agent for Metropolitan Life ("MetLife") in Decatur, Illinois. While he was with MetLife, Mr. Saunders specialized in selling 401K rollover plans. In the summer of 1995, he left MetLife and started his own business, a sole proprietorship called RAS Financial Companies ("RAS"). After establishing RAS, Mr. Saunders sent a letter to all his clients announcing the new business and offering its services to them. RAS had a brokerage agreement with Guardian Life ("Guardian") and also sold annuities and life and health insurance through other companies. As part of this business, Mr. Saunders planned to specialize, as he had at MetLife, in the rollover of existing 401K plans. Mr. Saunders claimed that, during the time of the offenses, he expected to receive commissions from rollover business he had written for Guardian in the amount of 4% of the gross amount of the 401K transfers.

According to Mr. Saunders, RAS started out doing quite well. During this period of prosperity, Mr. Saunders says that he sold primarily life insurance and investments on behalf of Guardian. However, by the end of July 1995, the life insurance sales slowed, prompting him to focus on 401K rollovers. Mr. Saunders claims that he sold several rollover plans but soon learned that there was a considerable delay in receiving his commissions for those sales. This delay caused RAS to run low on working capital and forced Mr. Saunders to exhaust his personal savings and credit in order to keep his struggling business afloat.

In the hope of saving his business, Mr. Saunders began to look for other sources of income and, after doing some research, discovered that he could sell debenture bonds that did not require full financial disclosure. Mr. Saunders says that he understood debenture bonds to be personal loans to him from investors, guaranteed by both his business and personal assets. Convinced that this was the way to save RAS, Mr. Saunders decided to sell $50,000 worth of bonds. Mr. Saunders claims that he limited the sale to $50,000 because he believed that the commissions he was owed from 401K rollovers would be sufficient to repay the bonds upon maturity. He decided that the bonds would be repayable at 9.5% interest and due to be repaid on December 31, 1996. However, he included a statement in the bond offering allowing him to call the bonds early and to repay them before the maturation date in order to cancel the debt.

In the later months of 1995, Mr. Saunders succeeded in finding several individuals willing to "invest" in RAS by purchasing the bonds. The first individual to purchase these bonds from Mr. Saunders was 79 year-old Rhoda Best. Best purchased bonds totaling $5,000 from Mr. Saunders in September and November of 1995. Next, in December of 1995, Mr. Saunders sold bonds to Carol Iler totaling $25,000, to Helen and Aubrey Kingston totaling $10,000, and to Arthur Douglas totaling $5,000. In inducing these individuals to buy the bonds, Mr. Saunders made false statements concerning how the money would be used. He told the investors that the money would be used to finance the construction of a new facility to house RAS, but instead used the money to pay personal and household expenses. Although he admitted making these misrepresentations, Mr. Saunders maintains that he always intended to repay the bonds with interest on or before December 31, 1996. The government, however, contended that Mr. Saunders never intended to repay the bonds.

Although the government alleges that the "bondholders" were the principal victims of Mr. Saunders' scheme, it was a different investor who first alerted authorities to Mr. Saunders' questionable conduct. This investor was 65 year-old Charles Neathery who had originally invested money with Mr. Saunders when he was a representative of MetLife. On August 14, 1995, Mr. Saunders contacted Neathery to inform him that he had started his own business, RAS, and to encourage him to invest in the Guardian Park Avenue Fund. Neathery trusted Mr. Saunders and on August 16, 1995, transferred $10,571.74 from his MetLife account to RAS in the form of a check. These funds were to be invested in the Guardian Park Avenue Fund./1

In September 1995, Neathery contacted Mr. Saunders to check on the status of his account. Mr. Saunders told Neathery that this kind of investment took time and that Neathery would hear something soon. Neathery contacted Mr. Saunders several more times and got the same response. He then became suspicious and contacted Guardian. He learned that it had no account in his name. On December 4, 1995, Neathery contacted the Piatt County State's Attorney concerning this investment. Later that same day, Neathery was interviewed by Deputy Manint of the Piatt County Sheriff's office. Neathery informed the officer of the circumstances concerning his investment with Mr. Saunders.

On December 8, 1995, Deputy Manint spoke with Mr. Saunders at the RAS office in Decatur. Mr. Saunders told Deputy Manint that his secretary had deposited Neathery's money in the wrong account and that he was in the process of correcting that mistake. When Deputy Manint asked to speak to the secretary, Mr. Saunders said that he had fired her and would not provide her name. He assured Deputy Manint that Neathery would hear from him shortly and that Neathery would have a choice of reinvesting the funds in the Guardian Park Avenue portfolio or receiving a full refund with interest. On December 22, 1995, Neathery received a full refund plus interest in a check totaling $10,923. Investigators later learned that Mr. Saunders had deposited the money in various personal accounts and had used it to pay personal and household expenses.

During this period, two other agencies became involved in the investigation of Mr. Saunders: the Illinois Secretary of State Securities Division ("SOSSD") and the United States Postal Inspector Service ("USPIS"). On January 9, 1996, USPIS and SOSSD investigators executed a federal search warrant at RAS's office and seized numerous business records. Mr. Saunders was present during the search and agreed to speak with investigators. When questioned about the Neathery transaction, Mr. Saunders repeated the story he had told Deputy Manint. However, after the investigators pointed out several discrepancies in his story, Mr. Saunders indicated that he wished to tell the truth. He acknowledged that he never had a secretary and that he had never invested any of Neathery's funds, but instead had deposited those funds in his personal checking and saving accounts and had taken the remainder out in cash. He further acknowledged that he had encouraged Carol Iler to invest with RAS in order to pay Neathery back and that he had in fact paid Neathery back with money given to him by Iler.

After the execution of the search warrant, Mr. Saunders claims that his goal was reimbursing the investors in order to alleviate their concerns about their investments. He maintains that he and his wife discussed liquidating all their assets in order to pay the investors. However, Mr. Saunders and his wife eventually decided that the quickest way to repay the investors was to borrow the money from Mr. Saunders' father. Then, on February 8, 1996, Mr. Saunders put the borrowed money in his attorney's trust account with instructions to repay the bonds with 9.5% interest. Checks repaying the investors with interest were distributed on March 29, 1996

MURDER LIFE

The Supreme Court of Georgia has affirmed that convictions and sentences of Phillip Adams in connection with the December 31, 1995 stabbing death of Curtis Cleghorn.

Adams v. The State, No. S99A1714. Appeal from Gwinnett County.

Justice Hugh P. Thompson wrote the opinion of the Court, "[t]he evidence is sufficient to enable any rational trier of fact to find Adams guilty beyond a reasonable doubt of malice murder and armed robbery."

Phillip Adams was convicted of malice murder and armed robbery in connection with the death of Curtis Cleghorn. This appeal followed the denial of Adams' motion for new trial.

Cleghorn raised Adams as a son from the time Adams was fourteen. On January 8, 1996, Cleghorn's neighbor filed a missing person's report because she had not seen Cleghorn since December 30. The following day, the police found Cleghorn's 1986 Chrysler in the parking lot of a convenience store.

A deer hunter found Cleghorn's body on November 6, 1996. The police found Cleghorn's empty wallet nearby. Cleghorn's died from multiple stab wounds to the back.

Angela Iler, Adams' girlfriend, told the police that Cleghorn called Adams the morning of December 31 and asked Adams to help him with his car. Before Cleghorn arrived to pick up Adams, Adams told Iler that he planned to rob Cleghorn if he did not agree to give Adams money. When the two left, Adams had a large hunting knife.

Adams returned that evening in Cleghorn's car. Although he did not have any money before he left with Cleghorn, he gave Iler $100 when he returned. Adams also gave $50 to another person and bought $100 worth of crack cocaine. Adams told Iler he killed Cleghorn.

Adams maintained that the trial court erred when it failed to excuse juror Pendley for cause after he said he was biased against criminal defense lawyers. Adams added that when the trial court asked the same juror whether he could be fair and impartial, he respond, "I guess the answer is yes." The Court noted that to be excused for cause, a juror must hold a fixed opinion of the guilt or innocence of the defendant that he or she is unable to set aside. Pendley ultimately stated that he thought he could put his opinion aside. "It cannot be said, therefore, that the trial court abused its discretion in refusing to excuse Pendley for cause."

Adams also claimed that the trial court erred in permitting the State to show that, in 1984, the police were summoned to Cleghorn's home because Adams and Cleghorn were in a dispute as to who would cut the grass; that Adams shot at the police; that as the police led Adams' away, he broke free and punched Cleghorn; and that Adams was prosecuted and imprisoned for the offenses stemming from that incident. The Supreme Court found no error. "The State demonstrated that Adams blamed Cleghorn for the prior incident; and that, at the time of the murder, he still begrudged Cleghorn because of it. Thus, the prior incident constituted evidence of motive, and it cannot be said it was irrelevant or remote in time."

The Court also found that evidence that Adams purchased crack cocaine after the armed robbery and murder of Cleghorn. was relevant and admissible to show Adams' motive in committing the crimes.

All of the Justices concurred.

Joseph Hart and His Descendants

By Rev. Charles Coffin Hart (Published 1901)

CHAPTER 5:

JOSEPH, JR., SILAS, ELIZABETH, SAMUEL AND JAMES HARVEY

Joseph Hart, Jr., third son of Joseph and Nancy Hart, was born in Fort McTeer Blount County, Tennessee, in 1793. His early education was limited to the schools of the neighborhood. He learned the trade of tanner and currier. He was married, but to whom the writer cannot learn, as the court house records were destroyed by fire. They had no children. For fifteen years he made his home and carried on a tannery in Columbia, Maury County Tennessee where he died in 1833, aged forty years.

Silas Hart, fourth son of Joseph and Nancy Hart, was born at the home of his parents in Blount County, East Tennessee, in 1796. He received such education as the community afforded and learned the carpenter's trade. In September, 1821, he accompanied the family to Bartholomew County, Indiana where he assisted in erecting a cabin and clearing ground for the next year's crop. In the spring of 1822 he returned to Blount County, where he was married to Miss Susan Strain. They had one son, Silas Hart, Jr. After the birth of the son the father died. The widow and her son accompanied her father, Mr. Robert Strain, to Alabama. In his young manhood Silas Hart, Jr., went to Carrollton, Miss., and was employed in the store of his uncle, Samuel Hart. In 1849 he went to California. Since then his friends have lost sight of him.

Samuel, second son of Joseph and Mary Hart, was born at the homestead, three miles northeast of Maryville, Tenn., Feb. 17, 1813. The family emigrated to Bartholomew County, Indiana, in the autumn of 1821. Here Samuel attended such schools as the, neighborhood afforded. The mother having died, the father, in May, 1828, took Samuel to Columbia, Tenn., to reside with his brother, Joseph Hart, Jr.

Here he attended school one year, and was then employed in a store where he gained some knowledge of mercantile business. At eighteen he was employed as deputy postmaster, which duties he performed with great satisfaction to the community. At twenty he was sent by some capitalists to Columbus, Miss., to attend the sale of lands which the government had obtained by treaty with the Indians before they were transferred to their territory in the West. This business was performed to the entire satisfaction of his employers. And so well was he pleased with what he learned of the new territory that in the fall of 1833 he went to Carrollton, Miss., and located as a general merchant. These three journeys between Tennessee and Mississippi were made on horseback, alone, most of the way through a wilderness country and almost without roads.

About the year 1835 the legislature of Mississippi repudiated the public debts of the state. In consequence of this act, Mr. Hart became a bankrupt and took the benefit of the United States bankrupt law, gave up what goods and other property he held and went out of business. After all was disposed of, the claims unpaid amounted to several hundred dollars at home and $10,000 to a wholesale merchant in new York. A vacancy having occurred in the office of Probate Clerk, the most remunerative office in the county, Mr. Hart was appointed to fill the vacancy. And so well did he do this work that the people elected him for six successive terms. Thirteen years in this office---and at the same time, as he was a good business man and a ready writer, he did much work for the State---enabled him to accumulate above his current expenses, about $13,000. Though all former debts were legally cancelled, yet be felt that he was morally bound for them, should he ever be able to pay them. Hence he first paid in full his home obligations. In August, 1848, he paid his New York merchant $10,000 in gold, and then, with a clean record, he again went into general mercantile business, and soon became the most popular and successful merchant in his county.

June 18, 1842, he was married to Miss Amanda Ayres, of Elkton, Ky., who was visiting her brother, Treadwell Ayres, a lawyer of Carrollton. To them were born eleven children, viz: Emma Stansberry, April 26, 1843; Mary Elizabeth, Feb. 4, 1845; a daughter, unnamed, died in infancy; William Harrison, Aug. 21, 1847; Laura Amanda, Oct. 11, 1849; died July 18, 1862, aged 13 years; Charles Harvey, Feb. 8, 1852, died in Texas, Nov. 19, 1888, aged 36 years; Samuel, Jr., Jan. 9,1855; Washington Stansberry, Nov. 19, 1856, died Sept. 27, 1857; Minnie Ella, Oct: 3, 1858; Isaac Ayres, May 3, 1861, died April 10, 1893, aged 32 years; Clarence, Aug. 17, 1864, died Sept. 7, 1865.

In October, 1842, Samuel Hart and Amanda, his wife, were converted under the preaching of Rev. James Gallagher, then laboring as an evangelist in Carrollton. They united with the Presbyterian church. He was soon after elected a ruling elder and Clerk of the Session, in which he served until the time of his death. His Christian life was very simple and practical in its character. After his conversion he at once established the family altar, which was ever after faithfully maintained. He literally lived the "Golden Rule," which was manifest in the family, in his business and, indeed, everywhere. Like one of old, he could say: "For to me to live is Christ." He was a diligent student of the Bible, and always at the midweek prayer meeting. A careful observer of the Sabbath, he neither made nor received social visits on the Lord's day. For forty years he superintended the Sabbath School, and also conducted a Bible class Sabbath afternoon for adults who could not attend the Sabbath School in the morning. He was a Royal Arch Mason, and often served as master of his lodge, and also as high priest of his chapter.

At the beginning of the civil war he was worth $50,000. Much of this, however, consisted of claims on citizens of Carroll and surrounding counties, which, at the close of the war, were worthless. The Confederate army swept through Carrollton more than once; the Federal army also. What one left, the other took. Hence at the close of the war he was almost bankrupt again, his business was completely broken up. During the first three years of the war he bought all the cotton he could, and as it was not safe to ship it, he stored it for safety in remote parts of the county. At the close of the war he wrote to his New York merchant, to whom he had now been indebted for five years, that he would send him the cotton to cancel the debt, and if there were a balance due him, he would take it in goods. The balance enabled him to resume business in a small way, which he did in the autumn of 1865; but the country was so utterly impoverished by the war that business was almost a failure. After a few years his health failed and he closed business, having little worldly goods, but out of debt.

Note---I lived in my brother Samuel's family from 1851 to 1855. In January, 1887, I spent two weeks with him. He was feeble, a constant sufferer from a chronic complaint, but always patient and cheerful. He walked with me twice to the house of God. During the following winter he was so feeble that he kept to his bed most of the time. On the evening of Feb. 15, 1888, he said to his wife: "I would like to get up and pray once more." She assisted him. They kneeled together at the bedside, and after a few minutes his voice ceased. The spirit had returned to God, who gave it. This was the glorious ending of the life that now is of one of the most cheerful, happy, godly men I ever knew. He was seventy-five years old, height 5 feet, 7 inches, weight 160 pounds; always neat in person and dress, shaved smooth. In manner, gentle, kind and amiable. A noble Christian gentleman, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." His wife, Amanda Ayres Hart, was a quiet, unassuming, godly woman, in every way worthy of such a husband. She survived her husband about two years, when she joined him.

"In the land of pure delight, Where saints immortal reign."---C C. Hart.

Emma Stansberry, born April 26, 1843. Educated in the schools of Carrollton. She united with the Presbyterian church in early life. Was married to Mr. John L. Tustin, a jeweler of Carrollton, March 21, 1860. They had two daughters, Lizzie and Emma H. Mr. Tustin served in the Confederate army during the civil war. He died soon after the war. His widow and her children lived with her parents, she taking the oversight of household affairs, until after the death of her father, 1888; when she purchased and remodeled the Carrollton Hotel, which she opened as the Tustin House. This business she conducted successfully until her death in 1897.

Lizzie Tustin, after completing her education in the Carrollton schools and studying music under private instruction, spent one year in the College of Music, Cincinnati, 0. She was then employed as a music teacher in a school in Texas, where she married a Mr. Iler. They had one son, Garland. Mrs. Iler returned to Carrollton on a visit and died there November 26, 1895. Their son, Garland Iler has a home with his uncle, S. P. Armstrong.

Emma H. Tustin united with the Presbyterian church in early life. She married Mr. McBride, a druggist of Carrollton. They had no children. After the death of her mother she took the management of the Tustin House. For three years she was a helpless sufferer from spinal trouble. During this time she manifested the greatest patience and Christian resignation. Died April 17, 1899, in the 32d year of her age.

Mary Elizabeth, second child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born Feb. 4, 1845. She received her education in schools of Carrollton and also at Grenada, Miss. She united with the Presbyterian church at an early age. She was married to Mr. Isaac Anderson Hood, son of Rev. Nathaniel Hood, of Blount County, Tennessee Nov.. 27, 1866. They had two children, Samuel Hart and Amanda. Their married life was spent in Memphis, Tenn., where Mr. Hood died March 16, 1873. Mrs. Hood and her children made their home in Carrollton, where she taught school for two years. On Sept. 26, 1876, she was married to Mr. William I. Ayres, a cotton broker of Grenada, where he died of yellow fever Sept. 5, 1878. Mrs. Ayres then taught in the public schools of Grenada for fifteen years. After this she lived three years in Webster Groves, Mo., when, at the request of the School Board, she returned to Grenada and resumed the work of teaching, which she still continues (February, 1900).

Samuel Hart Hood was born April 7, 1868. He received his education in the schools of Grenada. He served an apprenticeship of one year in the office of the Grenada Sentinel and completed his apprenticeship in Memphis. As a journeyman printer he worked in Memphis, Tenn., Evansville, Ind., and other cities. In September, 1895, he came to Webster Groves, Mo., and has since that time been in the employ of R. P. Studley & Co., printers, binders and lithographers of St. Louis. On Nov. 15, 1898, he was married to Miss Clara Bristol, daughter of Dr. B. J. Bristol, of Webster Groves. They have one, child, Clara. Hood.

Amanda Hood was born Nov. 18, 1869. Received her education in the schools of Grenada. In early life she united with the Presbyterian church. Dec. 21, 1887, she was married to Mr. John W. Third child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, a daughter, not named, died in infancy.

William Harrison, fourth child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born Aug. 20 1846. Received his education in the schools of Carrollton. Was converted in early life and united with the Presbyterian church. He soon developed a remarkable Christian character. At the age of seventeen he was drafted into the Confederate army, participating in the battle of Franklin, near Nashville, Tenn., where he was so severely wounded as to unfit him for further military service. He returned home in February, 1865. After he recovered from his wound he went to St. Louis, where he was employed as traveling salesman for E. C. Simmons & Co., afterwards Simmons Hardware Company. He continued in their employ nine years. He married Miss Roxie Gregory, of St. Louis. Then he established himself in the hardware business in Grenada, Miss., and was building up a good trade when, on Aug. 19, 1878, he died in the scourge of yellow fever which carried off 350 of the citizens of Grenada. His widow returned to her father's home in St. Louis.

Charles Harvey, sixth child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born Feb. 8, 1852. Received his primary education in the schools of Carrollton, was a student in the State University of Oxford, Miss., one year. Went to St. Louis, where he was employed as bookkeeper in the M. E. Book Concern. After this he went to Western Texas, where he was employed in herding cattle for several years, when he formed a partnership with two others in the cattle raising business, where he died Nov. 19, 1888, in the 37th year of his age. Unmarried.

Samuel, Jr., seventh child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born Jan. 9, 1855. He received his education in the schools of Carrollton. He married Miss Hattie Miller, of Carrollton. They are members of the Presbyterian church, and have three children: Harry M., born May 31, 1886; Minnie Armstrong, born Feb. 24, 1889; Samuel, Jr., born Oct. 19, 1893. He has been clerk of the Chancery Court of his district twelve years, and at the late election was elected for the seventh time.

Minnie Ella, ninth child of Samuel and Amanda, Hart, was born Oct. 3, 1858. She received her education in the Carrollton schools. Was converted in early life and united with the Presbyterian church. She was married Oct. 9, 1887, to Mr. Stephen P. Armstrong, of Vaiden, Miss. The Armstrong Bros. are doing a prosperous business as general merchants. Mr. Armstrong is an elder in the Presbyterian church. They have four children, only one of whom is now living (September, 1900). Mrs. Minnie Ella, wife of S. P. Armstrong, died September, 1900, aged forty-two years.

Isaac Ayres, tenth child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born May 3, 1861. Attended the schools of Carrollton. After he became of age he made his home in Holly Springs, Miss. He died April 10 1893, aged thirty-two years. Unmarried.

Clarence, eleventh child of Samuel and Amanda Hart, was born Aug. 17, 1864, died Sept. 7, 1865.

NOTE-Laura Amanda Hart died. at the age of thirteen. Washington Stansberry Hart lived but fourteen months. Clarence Hart lived twelve months.---C. C. H.

James Harvey, third son of Joseph and Mary Hart, was born in the family home three miles northeast of Maryville, East Tennessee, Sept. 21, 1815. He was named for Rev. James Harvey, author of "Harvey's Meditations," a devotional work popular with the Presbyterians of East Tennessee. At six years of age he accompanied the family in their emigration to Bartholomew County, Indiana. Here he obtained the rudiments of education, such as could be had in the schools of the neighborhood. When about fourteen years old his father carefully wrote the indentures and apprenticed his son to John B. Abbett, of Columbus, to learn the trade of a tailor. When out of his apprenticeship he went to Salem, Ind., where he worked for two years as a journeyman tailor. In the early autumn of 1836, at the age of twenty-one, when the Ohio river was low and few boats were running, he, with ten other young men, some mechanics, some common laborers, one lawyer, all seeking an opening for business clubbed together, bought two skiffs, fishing and hunting implements, and from New Albany, Ind., started down the Ohio river, stopping at farm houses or towns when their larder required replenishing, sleeping on shore or in barns. After twelve or fifteen days they landed at Evansville, Ind. Here they sold their outfit and disbanded. The young tailor made his way, on foot, across the country to New Haven, a village on the Little Wabash river, in Gallatin County, Illinois. Here he established and carried on the tailoring business successfully for fourteen years. In September, 1850, he moved to Shawneetown, on the Ohio river, where he established himself as a merchant tailor and general clothier. In this business he continued with a good degree of success, enjoying the confidence of his fellow-citizens for thirty years; when by misfortunes, failures by others and faithlessness of friends for whom he had endorsed, he was driven to the wall and compelled, at the age of seventy-four, to go out of business. His fellow-citizens showed their confidence in his integrity by electing him treasurer of the city, which office he held many years, and at each election he received a handsome majority of votes; and although each year $6,000 to $8,000 passed through his hands, not a dime was missing. And in the final settlement, after many years of service, his accounts were found by the auditing authority to be correct. He also served as magistrate seven years, receiving an unusually large amount of business, especially in collecting, all of which was found correct. In 1842 he was made a Master Mason, and soon after received the degree of Royal Arch Mason. He has served in every office in his lodge, and for seventeen years, was secretary. In 1872 he was elected treasurer of his lodge, which office he has held continuously twenty-seven years. He was a careful and discriminating reader of magazines and other general literature, and had a retentive memory. No man in his community had a more accurate knowledge of current literature, especially of the current history of the affairs of his own country, than he had.

On March 26, 1860, he was married to Miss Achsah L. Gold, a member of the Presbyterian church of Shawneetown. To this union four children were born: Joseph Calvin, May 6, 1862; Mary Frances, May 5, 1865, died Sept. 14, 1972; Charles, Jan. 4, 1869, died when a few weeks old; Elizabeth, March 9, 1870, died April 1, 1871.

In the autumn of 1867 Rev. C. C. Hart, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Logan, 0., visited his brother in Shawneetown. At the solicitation of the pastor and session of the church, he conducted evangelistic services daily for two weeks, at which time his brother and many others were converted and united with the Presbyterian church. He at once established the family altar. He collected a class of small children, brought them into the Sabbath School, taught them Sabbath after Sabbath, visited them at their homes, and had the unspeakable pleasure of seeing them all converted and brought into the church.

NOTE---He has always maintained a noble character for honesty, integrity in business, purity in private life, fidelity to public trusts, generous to all and eminently domestic in his habits. He has no enemies, and all who know him respect him for his many good qualities, which have been manifest in the community in which he has lived for half a century. And now, at the completion of his 85th year, Sept. 21, 1900, he is living a quiet life, enjoying the peace of the gospel, illustrating the fruits of the Spirit, waiting patiently the call of the Master. His wife, Atta, as she is familiarly called, is a noble woman, an earnest Christian, sweet, gentle, quiet of temper; in every way worthy of her noble husband. Those who know her best appreciate and love her most.--C. C. H.

Joseph Calvin, the only living son of James H. and Achsah L. Hart, received his education in the schools of Shawneetown. At an early age he was converted and united with the Presbyterian church, and has ever been active in the Sabbath School, choir, Christian Endeavor and in the general work of the church. In his boyhood he learned the printing business. For eight years he was bookkeeper for Hair & Ridgeway, box manufacturers and lumber dealers, of Chicago. The winters proving too severe, he left Chicago and for a year was editor and manager of the Carmi Courier, White County, Illinois. He then accepted a clerkship in the State National Bank of Shawneetown, which he still holds (January, 1900). He is also chief editor of the Shawnee News. He was made a Master Mason in 1891, Warren Lodge, and for four years has been master of his lodge (January, 1900).

Will the real BIG GIANT HEAD band please step foward!

If you've come across this sight by doing a search for "Big Giant Head", or "Big Giant Head band", you're probably wondering why there appears to be two different Big Giant Head bands. One from Illinois and one from Indiana. As you have probably already figured, with a band name like Big Giant Head it's no coincidence. Here's the true story on how both bands came to be:

In the spring of 2001 two guitarists/vocalists: Rich Kienle and Tim Harrington decided to take their working acoustic duo one step further and form a full 4 piece electric band. Soon thereafter they teamed up with bassist Kelly Iler and entered into a three way partnership. Although they had not yet found a drummer, they decided to go ahead and start booking the new band in hopes that they would easily find a drummer, once the gigs were booked.

Now they needed a name for this new project. They tossed around several ideas & finally settled on Tim's idea "The Axemen". Although it seemed the best that they could come up with at the time, none of the three band members were really satisfied with the name. Then one night at an acoustic gig at Linda's Idle Hour in Crescent City, Il., Rich Kienle(after being inspired by the sitcom "Third Rock From The Sun") Came up with the band name "Big Giant Head". All 3 band members loved it!! Rich had finally come up with a band name that all were satisfied with. The 3 voted and Rich's name: "Big Giant Head" was made the official name of the band.

Now this new band that already had gigs booked, needed a drummer. This proved to be a much more difficult task than the Big Giant Head band could ever have anticipated. After over a dozen auditions, the 3 could not find a drummer that they all could agree on. With several gigs on the books, the guys decided they would hire the best of all that auditioned on a trial(hired gun) basis without offering him full partnership in the Big Giant Head band. That drummers name was Jay Furgison.

The band then began booking fairly regular weekend gigs with Jay on drums. Rich booked the first few gigs and the majority of Big Giant Head's work, but Tim eventually started doing some booking also. A logo was also drawn by Tim's wife Mary, using the concept and ideas of the 3 original band members(Kelly, Tim, & Rich). Tim was paid a fee for designing and scanning the logo.

Soon thereafter as oftentimes happens in bands, a big dispute(I'll spare you the details) came up between Kelly Iler and Tim Harrington. It seemed the only way for them to continue working together was for Kelly to bow out of the 3 way partnership and just play with the band on a gig to gig(hired gun) basis, as drummer Jay was. This left Rich and Tim as 50/50 partners in the business end of the band.

Well things did not go smoothly from there either. The band did not seem to be progressing musically in either Rich, or Kelly's opinion, and after considering many options, Kelly and Rich decided to hire drummer Andy Forquer, and guitarist/vocalist Jerry Cook to replace Jay and Tim. Jay and Tim were given a months notice of their replacement on the gigs that Rich had booked and Rich offered Tim a 6 week notice on all the gigs that Tim had already booked. This break-up was not a very pleasant event, but Rich and Kelly, though they had no personal hard feelings toward Tim and Jay, felt it had to be done in order for them both to be satisfied with the progress of the band.

At the time of the break-up Rich informed Tim that since he(Rich) was the person that came up with the band's name, and that since two thirds(Himself & Kelly) of the original band members were going with him, he would be retaining the band name "Big Giant Head". This did not sit well with Tim. For reasons that I can only speculate on(Perhaps his anger due the break-up of the band, or possibly just lack of creativity), Tim went on to use Rich's name(Big Giant Head) for his new band rather than come up with an original name of his own. He also continued to use the old B.G.H. logo that was paid for by the three original band members(Kelly, Rich, & Tim)

Since the break-up of Rich and Tim back in August of 2001, Kelly is no longer a member of the original Big Giant Head band(Rich's version) and Jay is no longer with Tim's unauthorised version of Big Giant Head, which brings us to the obvious question: "Who is entitled to the use of a bands name once the original line-up breaks up?"

a) The band member who originally came up with the band name?
b) The band with the most original members at the time of the break-up?
c) The band member that booked the majority of the work while the original line-up was still together?
d) The band member who first booked his new band under the name?

Well folks, if you chose either a,b,c, or d, you chose Rich Kienle's version of the Big Giant Head band!!

SFVBC's Beginnings

By Al Iler

Recently, some members have asked about the origin of the San Fernando Valley Bicycle Club, when and why it was formed, who were the founders, etc.

Although the official beginning of the club was the formal adoption of the name "San Fernando Valley Bicycle Club" and the publication of the Ride Schedule under the new name for the first time on August 1, 1978,the Club actually started long before.

The SFVBC is actually an offspring of an industrial company bicycle club, which was formed on November 1, 1975. The Club's name was Crankset Bicycle Club and the company was the Litton Data Systems Division, located in Van Nuys. The original members and their former Crankset Bike Club Officers were: Al Iler, President; Harvey Shore, Vice President; Harvey Ganz, Secretary/Treasurer; Bob French, Jim Mitchell and Sam Pawley.

The Crankset Bicycle Club reached its peak in June of 1976 with a membership of 32, not including spouses and other family members. However, not all 32 members attended the Club's bike rides, which were scheduled twice each month. We realized that most riders who joined us on rides were non-Litton employees, like John Lukes, Charlotte McDonald, Bob Wong, George Masa and Bert Bivens, to name a few. Consequently, we decided to form a new bike club, which would be independent of any company and free from restrictions and constraints usually imposed by the sponsoring company.

Upon its formation, the name San Fernando Valley Bicycle Club was selected. The original Club officers were as follows: Al Iler, President; Gordon Petit, Vice President; and Charlotte McDonald, Secretary/Treasurer.

Our first Ride Schedule was published under the new name on August 1, 1978. It wasn't until October 1, 1978 that we required membership dues to help defray operating expenses. An official membership list was established.

Since then, the membership has grown from the original three founders and 12 other charter members to the present dues paying membership of 300. * Membership reached as high as 500 in the late 80's, but because of clerical errors higher numbers were published.

The Club's ride format has grown from a modest Short and Medium ride schedule twice each month to our current wide range of rides set for every Saturday, Sunday and most holidays. We have attracted members from the entire San Fernando Valley and from other areas in both Los Angeles and Ventura Counties.

Dues for the calendar year 1980 were due by mid-December. They were as follows:

$7.00 Individual
$8.00 Member and Spouse
$9.00 Family Membership

Molly Hatchet

Sanford, Florida

10/7/01

Molly Hatchet notes from the Sanford, FL show, 10/07/01:

MH list members Pam Iler, Walt Todd, myself, and our families joined on this day for a great concert.

The new drummer was Dale Rock. He is from the Central Florida area, and used to be in the band that opened for MH. He is a self-described "people-person", and was extremely nice and friendly. He loves to go through the crowd and talk to the fans. This was his 7th show with MH, and he did a great job! As a drummer myself, I do indeed watch and critique other drummers. He is really good folks!

Dale mentioned that he hoped we (the list members) liked his playing. Well, about 3 songs into the set he looked out at me and gave me the "how am I doing?" look. I smiled and gave him the big thumbs up, he nodded and smiled back and proceeded to kick some Hatchet ass through the rest of the show. At the end of the show, he walked to the stage and gave Walt and I his sticks. You guys and gals are really gonna like him.

Dale is fully aware that he is being "looked at", and that it takes more than just a good drummer to become a permanent member. He realizes that he will have to earn the bands respect in his work ethic, touring situations, recording situations, as well as being accepted as "one of the family", which is something you don't earn in just a few weeks.

He said he would love to be in Molly Hatchet for the next 20 years, but he knows he has to prove himself.

Webmasters note: Dale is now in The Jim Crouch Band, featuring the extremely talented Mark Hodgson.

Also in attendance were two former Molly Hatchet rhythm section members; Mr. Sean Shannon and Mr. Riff West. (Webmaster's note: Future MH drummer Shawn Beamer was there also.)

108

Riff had some very nice things to say about Andy's talent and ability on the four-string. It was nice to speak to Riff again, it had been 14 years since I had the privilege. He was very polite and appreciative, as was Mr. Shannon.

Sean has completed building his studio in Central Florida, and will spend the winter running it, and working on other projects. He really wants to play for the band, but their touring schedule will not allow him to keep his studio and project responsibilities.

Bobby may not have been feeling well. He arrived shortly before the show, and left soon thereafter. We didn't get to speak. Hope things are ok with ya' Bobby.

The band did not line up at the t-shirt stand to sign autographs this time. But all the guys (minus Bobby) hung around the bus area, signed autographs and posed for pictures.

There were guest list problems, so I told Phil when I saw him. He invited Vicky and I on the bus, so we sat a while and talked to Tim, while Phil took care of the guestlist dilemma. He placed a call to Bobby and told him "our guests are being held up", and Ben was there in a flash to take care of it. Phil seemed to take charge of the Hatchet crew while Bobby was absent. We all know he is just one helluve great guy.

Walt Todd and I spoke with the sound-man Seth, and "The Billy D". Very friendly as well.

Sources close to the band told Walt and I that the band is working on a "Classic Hatchet Medley", which will include "Bloody Reunion", "Boogie No More", and "All Over Now", among others...

Plenty of Pic's coming soon!

Stay tuned...

I'm looking for information on S/Sgt Arthur H. Iler from Atlanta, GA, who served with the 30th BG/374th BS during late 1944 thru 1945. I'm not sure if he was aircrew or groundcrew, but I would appreciate any information anyone might have on him.

Thanks,

Vicki Hartman,

I looked into my genealogy book and found a listing for a Susannah, 4th child of 9 children of Jacob Oyler and Anna Barbara Arndt-(Arendt). It doesn't list a birthdate for Susannah, but lists the next (5th) child as Valentine, born Mar. 30, 1797.

Her father, Jacob, was born on Jan. 8, 1756 at the original Conrad Iller-Eyler homestead in Manheim Township (Twp), York County (Co), PA.; he died on July 26, 1808, in Menallen Twp, Adams Co, PA. His wife Anna was the daughter of Jacob and Catharina Arndt; Anna was born in 1763 and died in 1839. These dates are on headstones in the Arendtsville cemetery in Pennsylvania.

Jacob's father was Valentine Eyler, born in Germany in 1722, and died in 1790 in Menallen Twp, York Co, PA. His second wife was named Susanna. His name was also spelled Oyler & Oiler.

There is much more info on both Valentine Eyler and Jacob Arndt. You may want to get a copy of this book. You also may benefit from contacting Morgan Iler: mbiler@juno.com
Morgan has an extensive genealogical database.

Easiest way to reach me, and for me to reply, is via email:

Good luck,
Doug

g g o 3

My gg aunt was Anne E. (Aylor) Oyler, b. 8/12/68 in Madison County, VA to Staunton Aylor and Malinda Quaintance. Anne married T. Walter Oyler. Their son, Willie Oyler, was born and died in July & August 1889 in Jasper County, MO. He is buried in the Webb City Cemetery next to Staunton & Malinda Aylor. I think the Oyler couple later lived in San Diego, CA and she lived in Los Angeles, CA in April 1917 when her brother, Joseph Wheeler Aylor passed away back in Kansas City, MO. Do you know of a connection with your Oyler line?

Thanks,

Danny Aylor

My name is Brandy and I am a 22+-year-old married mother of one. I returned to school here at Long Beach City College in 1998 to pursue a career in Forensic Science. During the spring semester of 1999, I joined the Sigma Pi chapter of the American Criminal Justice Association (ACJA). Through ACJA I have had the opportunity to attend conferences, lectures, and competitions that have helped to increase my education and awareness of the law enforcement field. I received my AA in Administration of Justice in the spring of 2001. I am currently pursuing an AA in Photography. I have a great deal of pride in the organization and will be honored to serve as Student Representative for Region 1 for 2002 and 2003.

"FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS" were written by B.F.M. MacPherson, of Gettysburg, PA., under the pseudonym of Samuel Carrick, her ancestor. These articles were published in the Chronicle Newspaper, Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Maryland, in the late 1930's and early 1940's. This compilation was transcribed from carbon copies of the original manuscript. Unfortunately some of the copy was missing and therefore this is an incomplete record. These articles were researched by B.F.M MacPherson, along with research from other historians and family tradition from members of these families. It must be taken into consideration that family tradition is not always accurate and that there may be error in some of these studies. - Steve Gilland, Gettysburg, PA.
